

The School of Social Sciences, Department of Political Science at the University of Mannheim, invites applications for the position of

Full Professor in Political Science, Evidence-based Political Research (W3, Chair)

beginning at 1 February 2023.

The University of Mannheim is looking for a scholar with outstanding commitment to strengthen the department's expertise in the field of evidence-based political science. Applicants should have published in leading international journals and should have an empirical-analytical research agenda that addresses questions in the fields of International Relations or Comparative Government. Ideally, the candidate is able to conduct innovative research and teaching in both subdisciplines.

The successful candidate must have a university and doctoral degree, commitment to excellence in teaching, and documented excellence in research. The candidate will be expected to teach undergraduate and graduate courses.

The University of Mannheim offers an international environment with institutionalized commitment to promote outstanding academic careers in the Graduate School of Economic and Social Sciences (GESS) and the EITM Europe Summer Institute, and to recruit competitive third-party funds in the Mannheim Centre for European Social Research (MZES) and the Collaborative Research Centre SFB 884 on "Political Economy of Reforms".

The appointment requirements are determined by § 47 LHG of the State of Baden-Württemberg. The University of Mannheim places great emphasis on the training and mentoring of students and therefore expects full-time presence of its teaching staff and the ability to teach in English. In order to foster the integration of the University into the region, it is expected that professors move to Mannheim or the larger metropolitan area.

The University of Mannheim is an equal opportunity employer. Applicants with disabilities are treated with preference given comparable qualification. The University seeks to increase the number of women in research and teaching and thus strongly and explicitly encourages qualified female scholars to apply.

Please submit your application online at gerner@sowi.uni-mannheim.de, (reference Bewerbung W3-Evidence-based Political Research). Your application should consist of a single file including a cover letter, Curriculum Vitae including a list of publications, certificates and records and two recent teaching evaluations.

If you cannot submit your application online, please send the documents mentioned above to the Dean of the School of Social Sciences at the University of Mannheim, Prof. Dr. Michael Diehl, A5, 6, 68131 Mannheim, Germany.

Please note that confidentiality violations and unauthorized third party access cannot be ruled out when using email communications that are not encrypted.

All applications received before 16 January 2022 will be given full consideration.

The information relating to the collection of personal data by the person concerned under article 13 of the DS-GVO can be found on our homepage, section "Job advertisements".