

Routledge/UACES Contemporary European Studies Book Series

call for book proposals

The Contemporary European Studies (CES) Series invites early career and experienced academics to submit expressions of interest to publish monographs and edited volumes to its editorial team.

CES is an internationally renowned outlet for the publication of first-rate research in European Union Studies. We welcome expressions of interest in all areas of EU research, and would particularly encourage scholars working on feminist perspectives, post-colonial and decolonising approaches, non-European perspectives on the EU, critical security studies, practice theory, and critical international political economy, alongside works on EU institutions, external relations, integration theories, and EU policies, to get in touch. The Editors will consider and provide feedback on all expressions of interest.

For further information, please have a look at the submission process (<https://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/publish-your-book/submit-your-book-proposal/>) for formal proposals and at the proposal guidelines (<https://www.routledge.com/our-customers/authors/publishing-guidelines>).

Contact the editors

Monika Brusenbauch Meislová

Associate Professor of International Relations and European Studies Masaryk University, Brno
brusenbauch.meislova@email.cz

Benjamin Farrand

Professor of Law and Emerging Technologies Newcastle University
ben.farrand@newcastle.ac.uk

Helena Farrand Carrapico

Professor of International Relations and European Politics
Northumbria University
helena.farrand-carrapico@northumbria.ac.uk

Benjamin Martill

Senior Lecturer in Politics and International Relations University of Edinburgh benjamin.martill@ed.ac.uk